DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objection

With regards to Claim 22, at the end of the limitation of “means for estimating the distribution and severity of rainfall-derived infiltration and inflow into a sewer system for outputting the distribution and severity of rainfall-derived infiltration and inflow in each of a plurality of districts,” should be a comma instead of a period.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 22 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tetsuo (JP 2006-092058).

With regards to Claim 22, Tetsuo teaches a device for the estimation of distribution and severity of rainfall derived infiltration and inflow comprising:

means for estimating the distribution and severity of rainfall-derived infiltration and inflow into a sewer system (“water-storage facility”) for outputting the distribution and severity of rainfall-derived infiltration and inflow in each of a plurality of districts (Abstract, “Solution,” Detailed Description, Paragraphs 1,5), said means for estimating the distribution and severity of rainfall-derived infiltration and inflow including:

processing means for:

- i) performing a pattern matching analysis between rainfall-derived infiltration and inflow factor information for each of said districts and the amount of rainfall-derived infiltration and inflow at corresponding base point located downstream of each of said districts (Detailed Description, Paragraph 5, Problems to be Solved by the Invention, Paragraph 7, 9-10, and;
- ii) outputting the results of said pattern matching analysis (Problems to be Solved by the Invention, Paragraph 7, 9-10, "errors").

Response to Arguments

Applicant has cancelled claims 1-21 and presented a new claim 22, which has been rejected above.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
